

Discover The Trends Affecting Agriculture At Commodity Classic

ST. LOUIS, MO.

Commodity Classic provides corn, soybean, wheat and sorghum growers the opportunity to discover the trends and issues that will have the greatest impact on their industries this year in Tampa, Fla., March 3-5, 2011.

"I can't think of a more comprehensive event organized to benefit farmers than Commodity Classic," said Commodity Classic Co-Chair Theresa Schmalshof. "Attendees learn about the latest advancements in production agriculture, discover what government policies will significantly impact the U.S. farm industry and are provided a variety of opportunities to mingle with growers and industry representatives from across the country."

On March 3, Commodity Classic will kick off its educational programs with an Early Riser Production Session called "Become Eight Percent More Efficient and 19 Percent More Profitable" with speakers Brian and Darren Hefty from Ag PhD TV. Attendees will learn the secrets to increasing efficiency on the farm, from new high-tech equipment options to simple, commonsense practices.

Also that day, Commodity Classic Pre-opening Learning Center Sessions will give you the tools to effectively tell the story of agriculture, and how to make your farming operation more profitable.

Commodity Classic will wrap up on March 5 with an "Evening of Entertainment," when the chart-topping Little River Band will bring their popular harmonies and classic rock sounds to the stage.

To take advantage of the lowest registration rate for Commodity Classic, register by the early discount deadline of Jan. 20. Go to www.commodityclassic.com to register online or to find out more about this premier event for corn, soybean, wheat and sorghum growers. Δ
