

Illinois Wheat Producers, Processors Invited To Attend 2013 Illinois Wheat Forum

BLOOMINGTON, ILL.

Illinois wheat producers and processors are invited to attend the Illinois Wheat Association's annual Illinois Wheat Forum, which will be held Tuesday, Aug. 20 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Highland, Ill.

Attendees of the Illinois Wheat Forum will have the opportunity to learn more about the profits and risks of wheat rotation, key components of farm profitability and market dynamics, Illinois farmland values, crop insurance and Farm Bill update, as well as receive information about 2013 wheat production research in Illinois.

Participants also will have the chance to tour a number of exhibits featuring seed companies, millers, elevators, crop protection services and other service industries.

"The Illinois Wheat Forum offers producers a chance to learn more about nearly every facet of production," said Diane Handley, executive director, Illinois Wheat Association. "From crop insurance to a 2014 growing season outlook, producers will take home a wealth of information that will help them increase the productivity and profitability of their operations."

Registration for the conference begins at 8:00 a.m., with sessions beginning at 9:00 a.m. The forum will conclude at 2:45 p.m. and includes lunch.

For more information, please visit the Illinois Wheat Association website at www.illinoiswheat.org, or call Illinois Wheat Association Executive Director Diane Handley at 309-557-3662. The Illinois Wheat Forum is made possible through the support of the Illinois Farm Bureau. Δ
