

Meeting On Native Grasses Set In Tenn.

SOMERVILLE, TENN.

Please come join Fayette County Extension, The Fayette County Livestock Assoc. and Ames Plantation on Thursday, August 2, 2012 at 6:00 p.m. for a meeting to learn more about using native grasses such as big bluestem, switchgrass and eastern gamagrass in your forage program. These highly drought tolerant, long lasting, low input, warm-season perennials can produce high yields of hay (4 – 6 tons/acre) and excellent animal performance when grazed (1.1 – 2.6 lbs. ADG on steers) during the summer. This meeting will start with a free meal and will be held at Ames Plantation. Please RSVP Extension-901-465-5233. Δ
