

Small Animals, Small Spaces, Big Profits??

BREESE, ILL.

Have you ever thought about raising small animal in some unused outbuildings, but don't know how to begin? Have you ever thought about raising small animals but don't know which ones might be a good fit for you and your buildings? Have you ever thought about raising small animals and want to make a profit?

If any of these questions have crossed your mind then you should attend this seminar. At this seminar, we will focus on rabbits, goats and pastured poultry. Dave Ratermann from Breese will discuss raising rabbits, Kevin Gum from Keyesport will talk about raising Boer goats and Floyd Johnson from Ramsey will relate his experiences with pastured poultry. John Pike, University of Illinois Extension educator will round out the seminar with the all important aspect of marketing your production.

The program will be on February 4, 2008 at the University of Illinois Extension office in Breese, beginning at 7:00 pm. If you would like to attend, please give us a call at 618-526-4551. There will be a $5 registration fee.

It is one thing to raise the animals, but it is another whole story to make a profit on the enterprise. Join us and find out how to make both ends work. Δ
